

Dokholyan Group

Software Engineer Position

Our group has developed numerous computational approaches to model, simulate, design, and manipulate molecular structure. We are looking for a software engineer who would integrate our tools into a unified suite with an attractive and intuitive graphical user interface. Knowledge of C/C++, perl, python, php, javascript, and SQL is necessary. Web programming experience, especially HTML5, is desirable.

Start Date: As early as possible.

Contact: Prof. Nikolay Dokholyan (dokh@unc.edu)

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics

dokhlab.org